

Christine Pybus

Born and still living in Whitby, Christine left school for a career in communications whilst indulging in her lifelong passion for painting whenever possible.

Increasing success with her painting allowed her in 1997 to change career and to paint full time, opening her own gallery in Whitby in 1998 which she sold in 2007 to concentrate more on her own work.

She paints in both oil and watercolour and her pictures are usually completed on location.

Christine travels extensively to work and has painted in Europe, Russia, Australia and New Zealand.

Other art activities include talks and writing on art history, painting courses and demonstrations.

She also writes articles for 'Leisure Painter' magazine and has been included in a Sky television documentary.

Exhibitions include:-

The Royal Academy Summer Exhibition.

The Royal Institute of Oil Painters –The Mall Galleries, London

The Royal Society of Marine Artists -- The Mall Galleries, London

Eton College, Group Exhibition

Henley Royal Regatta 2004-2016

Castle Howard: Artexny

Galleries:-

The Russell Gallery, Putney, London.

Zillah Bell Gallery, Thirsk, North Yorkshire.

The Blake Gallery, Haxby, York.

The Art Café, Whitby.

Chantry House Gallery, Ripley near Harrogate.

The Coast Gallery, Burniston, Scarborough.

Featured In:- Who's Who In Art 33rd -37th Edition.